SOVIETS SWEEP ON TO KIEV

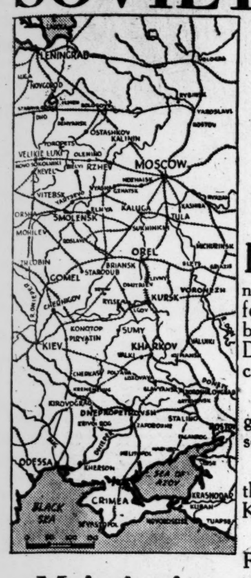
Fierce Battles Along Dnieper

FOLLOWING up their capture of Smolensk and Roslavl on Saturday—"evacuated on Friday night," according to the German communiqué—Soviet forces have established small bridgeheads on the west bank of the River Dnieper between Kiev and Dnepropetrovsk, Reuter's Special Correspondent cables from Moscow.

The German communiqué said that "enemy groups which had crossed the central Dnieper—at several points—were thrown back in counter attacks."

A late message from Moscow last night stated that the Germans are already withdrawing troops from Kiev.

In a new great push, north-west of Smolensk, Reuter reported late last night, Soviet forces have crossed into White Russia, and are now only 80 miles from the Polish frontier.



Majority for Labour in New Zealand

The Labour Party's majority in the New Zealand general election is now reduced by only eight seats instead of nine. Since Saturday night's figures were announced giving Labour 43 seats in the House of Representatives, a further check has reversed the position in one electorate.

The latest figures are:—Labour, 44 seats; National Party, 35; Independent, 1. Postal and absentee votes, which are still coming in, may have an important bearing on the final result.

Mr. Peter Fraser, the Premier, claimed that the result was an endorsement of the Government's policy in peace and war.

Soldiers' votes have played a big part in the Labour majority. Except in eighteen electorates, most of them have been given to Labour, who received 37,622, while the National Party secured 24,794, Democratic Labour 4,887, and other parties 3,096. A big increase in votes for the Nationals has given the party another 11 seats.

Mr. S. G. Holland, Leader of the Opposition, interpreted this yesterday as a protest against the use of war requirements to socialise New Zealand and against the outside domination of Parliament by Labour groups.

Airfield and Convoy Bombed

For the fourth successive day the Allied daylight air offensive continued on Saturday with attacks against targets in France, Belgium and a convoy off the Dutch coast. Longuenesse airfield, near St. Omer, was twice bombed by United States Marauders; at Den Helder a merchant ship was hit in a convoy attack by Beaufighters; in Belgium and Northern France twelve locomotives and several barges were damaged in fighter patrols, and two JU 68s were destroyed.

Two Beaufighters and three fighters are missing.—(Press Association.)

King Still in Italy

An A.P. message from South Italy says that King Victor Emmanuel, Crown Prince Umberto, Badoglio and their Government are in a southern Italian town, which, in effect, is the provisional capital of Italy.

The King arrived in the town from Rome almost two weeks ago as the Germans entered.

Russians Use Paratroops

Reuter's Special Correspondent in Moscow says that main Soviet forces are now making every effort to extend and consolidate the Dnieper bridgeheads in face of a very fierce artillery and mortar barrage, while powerful armies are driving on from Smolensk and threatening to "roll up" the German Dnieper line from the rear. Hundreds of miles to the south, he states, the battle is nearing the outskirts of Kiev, and the Germans are struggling fiercely to repel a rapid succession of Soviet thrusts across the Dnieper.

A German News Agency message says that Soviet paratroops, dropped on the western side of the river, were almost all mopped up.

A few local infiltrations have been achieved by the Red Army in the area of Chernigov, according to a German News Agency message.

The investment of Kremenchug is proceeding swiftly, and the town is jammed with retreating German troops and transport, with the Russians closing in on them from two sides, while around Dnepropetrovsk the battle is now swinging towards the flanks of the city.

West, north-west and south-west of Smolensk Soviet forces are continuing their outflanking move in the Dnieper line and thrusting for the key rail junctions of Vitebsk and Orsha.

Describing the capture of Smolensk, Red Star stated: "Our troops, advancing from the north-east, reached the Dnieper near the north-east suburb of the city. They captured important river crossings, and threw detachment after detachment across the river. Soon the whole southern bank of the Dnieper in this area was in Soviet hands. It served as a springboard for the final assault on Smolensk."

DESPERATE DEFENCE

Twenty-four hours before the German lines gave way under the pressure of General Sokolovsky's troops north-east and south of the German bastion, a great storm swept the countryside, with sheets of rain and hurricane gusts of wind rivalling the fury of the guns. Trees were uprooted and signal wires torn down. The Russian troops drove on through streams that had become rivers.

A Pravda special correspondent, covering the capture of Roslavl, said he was particularly impressed by the scale of the German fortifications there. "It seemed," he said, "as if the whole of German industry had been concentrated on making this stretch of front impregnable. Concrete and armour-plate, earth and timber were scientifically welded together into one vast fortress, and this was equipped with arms of all descriptions."

Duncan Hooper, Reuter's staff correspondent in Moscow, cabled

Smolensk was occupied at 6 o'clock on Saturday morning, said "Red Star" yesterday, according to Moscow Radio.

"It was as empty as if swept clean by a hurricane. The town was enveloped in flames and covered in a thick pall of smoke. Only a few houses miraculously escaped complete destruction."—(Reuter.)

last night that the Red Army, streaming through Smolensk, is now driving west down the Dnieper valley into White Russia. Capture of Borovaya, announced in the Soviet communiqué, brings Soviet forces to the farthest point yet reached. Borovaya is about 30 miles inside White Russia.

Yesterday's German communiqué, which said that a landing attempt on the coast of the Sea of Azov had been repulsed, stated also that "enemy groups which had crossed the Central Dnieper at several points were thrown back in counter-attacks." The communiqué also claimed the destruction of 105 Soviet 'planes on Friday and Saturday.

The German News Agency, which stated that the Russians were throwing into action, not only divisions, but whole armies, said that the "Red Army had achieved a few local infiltrations in the area of Chernigov.

"In the area of Dnepropetrovsk the Soviets attempted to land small formations on islands in the Dnieper, but were everywhere detected and thrown back.

"A Soviet attempt to get into the German rear by dropping parachute troops also failed. Almost everywhere Soviet parachute troops which had landed among the densely staggered German formation were enveloped and annihilated."

The Soviet communiqué reported advances on all fronts, and stated that the Dnieper had been reached at several points. In the Kuban, Perenkovo was captured. Surazh, in the Gomel direction, was taken. An advance of 7 miles and the capture of over 200 places were claimed in the Vitebsk direction.

A late Moscow Radio message last night said:—"As the result of their heavy defeats on the Western, Central and Southern sectors of the Soviet-German front the Germans have now lost considerably more territory than all the territory they occupied in Western Europe."

According to the Budapest correspondent of the Basle Nachrichten, "a Rumanian division is trapped in the Kuban, while the position on the eastern front is being watched with anxiety in Rumania."

Allies on Outskirts of Pacific Base

AUSTRALIAN troops have smashed the last natural Japanese defence positions before Finschhafen and were yesterday within three-quarters of a mile of that port and supply base on Huon Peninsula, in North-East New Guinea, says Reuter's Correspondent at Allied H.Q., South-West Pacific.

The Australians have crossed the Bumi River, and their drive is now also aimed at Langemak Bay, about a mile and a quarter below Finschhafen, where stronger resistance may be encountered.

The air offensive continues against Japanese supply and troop-carrying barges in the Solomons, and several barges were left beached and burning after an Allied strafing attack near Choiseul Island on Saturday.

Five locomotives, a number of wagons and station buildings were damaged on Saturday, when R.A.F. Beaufighters attacked railway targets near Maymyo and Sagaing, says yesterday's India communiqué. Irrawaddy rivercraft north of Prome were also heavily attacked, and damage was inflicted on a large steamer, more than 35 sampans, and other craft.

It was officially announced in Tokyo yesterday that a treaty has been concluded between Japan and Burma incorporating the Shan States, with certain exceptions, into Burma, said the Japanese News Agency.—(Reuter.)

A message received this morning states that the Australian advance on Finschhafen has been slowed, according to a communiqué from General MacArthur's Headquarters; 69 Japanese fighters were shot down by American raiders over Buin.

"War Period Depends on Workers"

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, British Minister of Aircraft Production, said at Newcastle yesterday that victory now seemed certain—only time and cost in human life were still in doubt. "How long that time will be and how great the casualties must now depend largely upon the efforts of those on the industrial front in Great Britain and America. Sustained and increasing effort may bring us an earlier victory, with all that that means in the saving of human life."

He advocated a post-war alliance between the British Commonwealth, the Soviet Union, America and China, saying that he regarded good relationships between them as absolutely cardinal to the future of the world.

Outlining the enormous expansion in aircraft production, Sir Stafford said: "If the figure for the first six months of 1940 for the structure weight of aircraft produced is taken at 100, then the corresponding figures for 1941, 1942 and 1943—in each case the first six months—are 161, 244 and 364, and in engines, taking the horse-power produced in the first six months again as 100, the figures for the three following periods are 179, 373, and 486. But this is not enough. We still need more and more aircraft to make good our heavy losses in the offensive fighting of to-day, and to prepare for that even greater offensive which must come before the end is reached. Nothing must stand in our way in obtaining this production."

America's More "Business-like" Diplomacy

President Roosevelt's appointment of Mr. Edward R. Stettinius, jun., big business man and Lend-Lease expert, as Under-Secretary of State, in place of Mr. Sumner Welles, whose resignation is now officially announced, is believed in Washington to be an indication that future United States international relations will be conducted in a purely business-like way.

The President also announced the establishment of a new Department in the office for emergency management of the Executive Office of the President, to be known as the Foreign Economic Administration, with Mr. Leo T. Crowley as Administrator.

Another White House announcement stated: "It is expected that Mr. Herbert Lehman will be urged by the Government for appointment as Director of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration." The Foreign Economic Administration consolidates the office of Lend-Lease, the office of Foreign Relief and Rehabilitation, the Operations Office of Economic Warfare, and the office of Foreign Economic Co-Ordination.

Three-Power Meetings

The appointment of Mr. Edward Stettinius, jun., as Under-Secretary of State, is regarded here as a bold move by President Roosevelt to prepare American diplomacy for the forthcoming Tripartite meetings with Britain and Russia, says an Associated Press telegram from Washington.

It is said that the President shows by this choice that he means to entrust most of the critical negotiations now developing to men of hard-headed business experience known as friends to the Russians.

An Associated Press telegram from Cairo last night said:—A conference of all the United Nations to discuss post-war European reconstruction may be held in Cairo within the next few months. It is reported that the United States has already accepted an invitation to the conference.

Roebuck Castle Incident

Shots were fired in the grounds of Roebuck Castle late on Friday night, when an intruder was discovered in the stableyard, where a large quantity of goods are stored awaiting auction sale this week. Suspecting the presence of an unauthorised person, the caretaker notified Goatstown Guards, two of whom helped him to search the premises.

It is stated that a man made an effort to escape and two shots were fired. Neither of the shots took effect, but the man fell into a heap of glass, receiving cuts on the face. After he had been taken into custody a thorough search was made in the grounds.

Badoglio: "Italian Soldiers will March"

Marshal Badoglio, writing in the first issue of Eighth Army News, published on the Italian mainland, said:—

"In the common struggle which awaits us Italian soldiers will march side by side with their British comrades against the German oppressor for the liberation of Italian soil and for final victory."—(Reuter.)

Injured in Fire Engine Crash

Four people were injured, one seriously, when a Bray Fire Brigade engine, manned by A.F.S. men engaged on exercise, struck a telegraph pole and overturned on Saturday afternoon at a double corner near Glenlucan, about half a mile outside the town.

Mrs. Mary Farrell, middle-aged, of 59 Wolfe Tone square, west, Bray, who was walking along the road at the time, received severe injuries when struck by the engine; three members of the fire crew were thrown on the road, Joseph Everard, who sustained a broken arm; Patrick Doyle, knee and other injuries, and Edward Murray, a broken leg. The injured were removed to St. Michael's Hospital, Dun Laoghaire, where, last night, Mrs. Farrell's condition was described as critical.

Busy Sessions for Dail and Senate

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

AS the time approaches for the resumption of Dail and Senate it becomes more and more evident that the sittings will be of exceptional interest. Numerous estimates for the current year remain to be considered, and of these the one of greatest importance will be that for the Department of Agriculture. The debate on this will afford the first real opportunity for farmer members to display the stuff of which they are made.

The main reason for the election of the farmers was to demonstrate the dissatisfaction of constituencies with the administration of the Department, and close political observers assert that upon the outcome of this debate will depend the important issue as to whether there will be an immediate general election or a continuance of the present Fianna Fail Government for the ensuing five years.

SENATE REFORM

Full dress debates will take place in both Houses on the subject of Senate reform. Already notice of motion to raise the question has been tabled by the Fine Gael deputies, Dr. O'Higgins and P. McGilligan, who call for the setting up of an investigation with a view to righting some of the many obvious defects in the existing system of election. Labour members of the Senate, Messrs. T. Foran and M. Colgan, propose to raise the issue in the Senate itself. Their motion, which was handed in during the week-end, asks for a "judicial investigation into the operations of the Seanad Electoral (Panel Members) Act, with special reference to allegations concerning unlawful and corrupt practices arising out of the recent Seanad elections."

Labour members of the Dail—Deputies Alderman M. O'Sullivan, Lord Mayor of Dublin; R. Corish and T. J. Murphy—have put down a motion concerning the County Management Act. They assert that the operation of this Act, and especially the appointment and powers of County Managers, reveal "a distinct departure from democratic principles in the conduct of local Government administration," and they call on the Government to introduce proposals which will restore to the elected representatives of the people effective authority to direct the administration of local government affairs.

Another subject which may occupy the attention of the Dail in the new session is that of School Attendance. The existing law appears to be far from satisfactory, as shown by the decision of the local Justice in a case decided last week at Mullingar.

This matter was prominently before the Senate recently, when an amending Bill was passed, but was subsequently held to be repugnant to the Constitution. It was upon this point that the Justice dismissed the prosecution.

An important measure expected shortly is that dealing with drainage. It was mentioned authoritatively some time ago that the Bill for this purpose was completed and ready for introduction.

12,000 Killed in Balkans Fighting

The German Radio said yesterday that more than 12,000 partisans have been killed in the fighting in Eastern Bosnia, Dalmatia and Western Croatia. German troops were advancing into the mountains, and have occupied all important places on the coast.

A Yugo-Slav message states: "Fighting for Split continues. The partisan units are firmly holding their positions, and have repelled all German attacks. The fiercest battles are taking place on the River Cetina.

"Fighting also continues for Susak. The largest part of the city is still in the hands of the partisans. In Slovenia four smaller towns in the neighbourhood of Ljubljana were occupied. On the Istrian Peninsula Croatian-Slovenian units have occupied the southern part of the Trieste-Fiume railway line.

"Fierce battles are being fought with German troops for the possession of the main road between Trieste and Pola."—(Reuter.)

An official statement in Bucharest yesterday reported that 37 prominent Rumanians, including former counsellors of King Carol, have been arrested for planning to organise a guerrilla force in Rumania.

Belfast police made a number of raids in the Falls road area of the city yesterday, and 23 men were detained.

New German Retreat in Corsica

With the remainder of the German forces in Corsica trapped in the northern peninsula, says Reuter, the campaign has now reached its final phase. French regulars, aided by large numbers of patriots, are exerting growing pressure and pushing steadily along the road traversing the peninsula.

Though Algiers Radio stated last night that Bastia had fallen, the official French communiqué said only that the Germans were compelled to make "a considerable retreat" south and south-west of the town. Pressure is heaviest in this vital sector, and Bastia is the only port left to the Germans from which they can travel to the Italian mainland.

Last night's French communiqué stated:—

"Pressure by regular troops and patriots on Saturday was exerted most strongly in the region west and south-west of Bastia, where the enemy was forced to make a considerable retreat.

"Oletta, Olmetta and Vallecalle were occupied, and cross-roads from St. Florent and Nonza to Bastia are now in our hands. In violent fighting in the Cazamozza region Morocco goumiers inflicted severe losses in killed on the enemy and took prisoners."—(Reuter.)

Children Started Big French Fire.—Children playing with matches started a fire which destroyed three buildings containing 1,000 tons of crops at Oisy, in the Somme Department, according to Vichy Radio yesterday.

Big Advance by Eighth Army

FURTHER advances by the Allies in Italy have been reported. The Fifth Army is pressing forward slowly against heavy resistance and has taken Cava di Terreni, seven miles north of Salerno.

According to Reuter, the Eighth Army has advanced 25 miles and reached the Plain of Foggia, less than 25 miles south of the German base of that name. Spinazzola and Atella have been captured.

Ofanto River Reached

The Eighth Army, after a mile-an-hour advance through South-east Italy to the Ofanto River, is now swarming on to the Foggia Plain, less than 25 miles south of the great German base of Foggia.

The plain is flat and a natural tank battlefield, but so far there has been no big tank action. The great Foggia chain of 12 satellite airfields has already been evacuated by the Luftwaffe.

The picture at the other end of the now almost straight 80-mile Allied front is one of complete contrast. The Fifth Army is moving forward yard by yard in the mountain defiles a few miles north of Salerno. Marshal Kesselring is making a stand in these narrow passes forming the gateway to the Naples Plain very much on the lines put up by the Germans at Randazzo in Sicily.

TOWNS FALL

This is the story of General Alexander's twin armies and the Allied air fleets giving them non-stop support:

Eighth Army — British and Canadian divisions now on the Foggia Plain captured the important towns of Spinazzola and Atella in their 25-mile advance on Saturday to the Ofanto River line. Spinazzola is about 25 miles inland from the Adriatic coast, and about as far north-west of Altamura, while Atella is almost half-way across the Allied front from Salerno to the Barletta area.

General Montgomery's Army has now advanced 300 miles since landing on the beaches at Reggio. Possession of Foggia would give the Allies a stranglehold on communications in South-Eastern Italy. With the airfields in Allied hands, further valuable air support could be given to the Fifth Army operating at the other side of the mountain chain.

The airfields are of diverse types and sizes, scattered over the Apulian Plain, with the main aerodrome at Foggia Ginosalisa, two miles from the town. The satellite fields vary in size from landing strips to a field 700 yards by 450 yards which can accommodate up to three squadrons.

Fifth Army—General Mark Clark's composite British-American force, fighting its way painfully and slowly, has captured Cava di Terreni, seven miles north of Salerno, on the bottleneck road through Nocera to Naples.

Pushing forward on a 25-mile front, Fifth Army troops have also occupied the twin villages of Senerchia and Valva, north of Contursi on the mountain road to Benevento.

Allied troops north of Salerno are prising the Germans from the mountain fastnesses on the sheer cliffs verging the Nocera road. The Germans are contesting every yard of the ground. They fall back from cave to cave and boulder to boulder. When Allied troops cross one ridge they find Germans entrenched on another a short distance away.

Heavy fighting is going on right along the Fifth Army line. General Clark's troops in the past 24 hours have made advances ranging from little over a mile to just a few yards. The fighting on this part of the battlefield grows rather than diminishes as the battle of the heights proceeds.

Allied bombers are ceaselessly attacking road junctions and German camps in front of the Fifth Army advance. Fighter-bombers and fighters make repeated sorties against troop concentrations, airfields and road convoys immediately behind the German front. On Saturday Bolzano, south of the Brenner Pass, Verona and Bologna were attacked by heavy bombers.

Algiers Radio stated last night that the Germans are short of fighters in the Salerno area and their troops are without air protection.

AMERICAN LOSSES

American casualties at Salerno up to and including September 15 totalled 3,497 in killed, wounded and missing, states the United States War Department.

The German communiqué yesterday stated:—"British and American forces advanced against our positions between the Gulf of Salerno and the Gulf of Manfredonia (on the Adriatic coast). The attacks were repulsed and new positions were smashed by our artillery."

British and German troops are now locked in a terrific struggle north-west of Salerno, reports the Berlin correspondent of the Swedish newspaper Allehanda. "The British troops are using every available means to reach Naples over the mountains," he reports. "Allied warships are giving the land forces the support of heavy naval guns."

Algiers Radio stated last night that the Fifth Army had advanced a further mile into strongly held German positions north and north-east of Salerno. American forces have, further east, advanced 30 miles in six days against stiff opposition, and now hold an unbroken front along key roads.—(Reuter.)

Dancing Helps to Spread Tuberculosis

"It is significant that quite a number of cases of pulmonary tuberculosis treated during the past few years have been inveterate dance addicts," states Dr. G. P. McCarthy, County Medical Officer of Health, Clare, in a report to County Manager O'Keeffe concerning the effects of night dancing on the spread of the disease.

An increase in the incidence and mortality rate of pulmonary tuberculosis, he says, is due to exhaustion attendant on over-indulgence in night dancing. If a night's rest was forfeited a few times a week for dancing in an unhealthy atmosphere, the risk of undermining the constitution was very great. Dance hall floors were covered with powder which had a harmful, irritating effect on the mucous membrane and respiratory passages, the initial phase of the disease being inflammation of these parts.

PRECAUTIONS

It was not unusual to see people cycling home from dances at 2 a.m. in drenching rain, and the majority of such revellers slept in the undergarments which they wore during the day. Many contracted colds as the result of wetting, and the neglected cold was almost invariably the precursor of pulmonary tuberculosis.

To suggest practical precautions was out of the question, as little could be done to give wisdom to youth. It was for the people themselves to either take precautions dictated by common-sense to escape the disease or outrage nature and pay the penalty.

British Junior Ministers

Following changes in the British Government resulting from the death of Sir Kingsley Wood, Chancellor of the Exchequer, appointments to three junior positions were announced from 10 Downing street on Saturday. They were:—

Parliamentary Under-Secretary for Foreign Affairs—Mr. George Hall.

Financial Secretary to the Admiralty—Mr. J. P. L. Thomas.

Lord Commissioner of the Treasury—Mr. N. A. Beechman.

Mr. Hall, who takes the place vacated by Mr. Law on his appointment at Minister of State, has been Labour M.P. for Aberdare since 1922. He is 61, and has been Financial Secretary to the Admiralty since February last year. He is an official of the Miners' Federation.

Mr. Thomas will be 40 next month. He has represented Hereford as a National Conservative since 1931, and was appointed a Lord Commissioner of the Treasury (a Government Whip) in June, 1940.

Mr. Beechman has been Liberal National member of St. Ives (Cornwall) since 1937, and is Parliamentary Secretary to the Secretary for Overseas Trade (Mr. Harcourt Johnstone) and Chief Whip of the Liberal National Party.

Mrs. Jane Byrne (aged 56), Rathfarnham road, Dublin, who collapsed in a Terenure tram yesterday evening, was dead when admitted to the Meath Hospital.

A.R.P. Fire-fighting Equipment

Local authorities have been advised by the Department of Defence (A.R.P. Branch) to examine the possibility of circumstances arising in which it would be essential on the occasion of peace-time fires to use fire-fighting equipment provided by the Department of Defence for purely A.R.P. purposes. The supply of fire-fighting equipment by the Department of Defence for A.R.P. purposes does not relieve local authorities of their responsibilities for the provision of adequate fire-fighting equipment for peace-time purposes.

Local authorities would not, of course, be required to apply specifically for permission to use A.R.P. fire-fighting equipment on the occasion of any particular fire. General approval would be obtained from the Department of Defence where circumstances so warranted. Any approval granted would, however, be subject to certain conditions, including payment for the use of the equipment.

Department Had its Kick in the Final

THE G.N.R.'s plans to send four or five special trains from Cavan to yesterday's G.A.A. football final—which ended in a draw—were nipped in the bud by the Department of Supplies, who stepped in a week ago and permitted only one special. It is thought that this action was a sequel to the sending of a large number of specials from Belfast to the hurling final a few weeks ago.

There was also a special train from Roscommon, and both were densely crowded. Cycling parties came 120 miles from the West on Saturday.

The final has lost none of its pre-war glamour, but the crowds which thronged O'Connell street were mostly young people. The match had its usual air of pageantry, the kilted pipers and the saffron, white and blue team emblems flashing colour.

EXCITING END

Roscommon, who are only beginning to make their name in football history, were extremely nervous, and threw away dozens of scoring chances. The heart of every spectator was in his mouth during the closing stages, when both sides were fighting for a decisive point. After the final whistle spectators waited for extra time, and it was some minutes before the referee decided in favour of "fighting another day."

Receptions were held for both teams, and the Cavan men were also entertained to a ceilidhe.

Information, Please, at the Library

A lady came in, started a tortoise walking across the librarian's desk, asked what did it eat and could she leave it out in the rain; a man came in, carefully opened a match-box and displayed four tiny black insects which were attacking his beans: these things happened in the Limerick County Library, and it is not surprising that the establishment of an information bureau is suggested by the County Librarian, Mr. Daniel Doyle, in his annual report to the Library Committee.

The woman with the tortoise was told what it lived on and that it did not mind the rain, and the man with the match-box was given a book that told him how to deal with his black insects.

"What is the classical symbol of unity?" and "who was Maire Ruadh?" are two more questions taken from an interesting list—and they were answered. A chemical recipe for softening water was supplied; but the man who rushed in to know the specific gravity of molasses was not enlightened. Obviously, there is a limit.

The report states that no properly-organised information bureau has yet been established, though the need for such exists. So far, the staff has tried to find time for that valuable service, and it is gratifying to find the public turning more and more to the library in the hour of need.

"Orange Terror" Denounced

The "Orange terror" in Northern Ireland was denounced at a public meeting under the auspices of the Green Front — new anti-partition movement—yesterday at the Parnell Monument, O'Connell street, Dublin.

Among the speakers were: D. Brennan, F. O'Carroll, Sean O Briain, D. O'Sullivan and Thomas Murphy. A parade through the city preceded the meeting.

Rathmines Fire

After fighting the flames for over an hour, two units of the Dublin First Brigade last night confined to a garage at the rear of 70 Leinster road, Rathmines, an outbreak of fire discovered at 10 p.m. The building was gutted.

Solferino's Surprise in Irish St. Leger

ODDS-ON chances often get beaten, but seldom has such a hot favourite been so decisively defeated as was Mr. F. S. Myerscough's Guineas and Derby winner, The Phœnix, in the Irish St. Leger at the Curragh on Saturday. Sensational would be the only adjective to describe the race. After leading all the way at a fast pace Mr. Myerscough's colt was joined by Solferino with about a furlong to go. With Joe Canty working his hardest The Phœnix struggled on for a while, but at the distance John Power took Mr. McVey jun.'s Fairway colt to the front to win a lot more easily than is indicated by the official verdict of five lengths.

Solferino is Mr. McVey's second classic winner, Suntop having won the Irish Oaks for him last July. The stable had an earlier winner when the recently purchased Astrologer scored in the Scurry Handicap. Arctic Sun gained yet another effortless victory in the Railway Stakes.

BECTIVE	16
OLD BELVEDERE	13

AS a season opener, the meeting of the cupholders and Bective Rangers, at Jones's road on Saturday, was a particularly bright affair. Towards the end, when Old Belvedere lost their out-half, O'Connor, through injury, and some of the players showed their lack of stamina, play was scrappy, but the bright moves earlier in the game more than made amends for the poor finish.

Bective won mainly because their forwards stuck the pace better than the Belvedere eight. K. O'Brien, M. J. Greene, and D. O'Neill all showed up well in a second half rally, which yielded two scores and wiped out Belvedere's interval lead.

Dugnan, Coleman and O'Driscoll did well among the Bective backs, while their newcomer, K. Barry, had a good game in the centre, and proved his worth as a place-kicker.

But the Belvedere backs took the real honours of the game. Each of their scores was a well-engineered and well-executed piece of work, in which B. Quinn, G. Quinn, and D. O'Connor were prominent. Their first followed a passing move which left B. Quinn in possession on the wing. He drew the full-back, and in passed to G. Quinn, who scored under the posts. Their second was somewhat similar, but this time B. Quinn cross-kicked to Paddy O'Sullivan, who scored. This time Thorpe failed to add the extra points.

Their third score came as a result of a typical Gerry Quinn zig-zag run from half-way. He was almost across when tackled, but D. O'Connor was up to take his pass and score. Thorpe converted.

In the first half W. Duggan (full-back) got over for Bective, and in the second O'Neill, Welsh and Greene got tries, two of which Barry converted.

Lansdowne, 11, Monkstown 3.

Monkstown had opportunities enough to win their match against Lansdowne at Sydney Parade on Saturday, but failed to make use of them, and were beaten by a goal and 2 tries to a penalty goal. The Monkstown forwards played very well, Lalor and M. Aherne being especially prominent; but the three-quarter line was very weak. They got a good service of the ball from their lively and hard-working scrum-half, L. Craig, but their passing was bad.

In contrast, the Lansdowne three-quarters played lively, even football, N. Burke, who scored all his side's points, was outstanding, but was allowed too much latitude by D. Craig in the earlier stages. Con. Murphy was very safe as full-back, though his kicking was a trifle short, and the forwards, of whom McPhillips and Delaney were best, just about held their own with the opposing pack.

In the first half Burke crossed three times and converted one, while Bergin kicked the penalty goal for Monkstown

St. Mary's 8, Wanderers 3.

The pace in the match at Lansdowne road, which St. Mary's won by a goal and a try to a try, was lively enough, and both sides gave promise of having a good season. Even though losing their captain, N. B. Taylor, with a knee injury, after about 10 minutes' play, Wanderers held their own, and could have won if they had availed of a couple of clear-cut openings in the second half. The loss of B. Harvey to Taylor's place in the wing, handicapped their forwards in the loose, but they got plenty of the ball in the scrums.

Mary's forwards were quicker on the ball than the opposition. W. Meehan, O. Byrne, and M. Troy showing up most. The handling of backs was unreliable, and only very occasionally was there an attempt at a cut through.

L. Horan scored Wanderers' try, and they held the lead until about mid-way through the second half, when W. Meehan got over for Mary's. Scott converting. P. Meehan got the winners' second try.

Clontarf ..... 17 Old Wesley 3

At Donnybrook, Clontarf beat Old Wesley by 3 goals (1 dropped) and a try to a try. Clontarf had numerous changes from the team selected, six in the forwards and two in the back division, but had much the better of the game all through, their forwards outplaying those of Old Wesley.

After about five minutes' play Mahony dropped a goal for Clontarf, and then Mulcahy and Moran got over, Williams adding the points on both occasions. In the second period Finnegan scored a try for Clontarf, and Rudd crossed for Old Wesley, neither of these being converted.

Blackrock 12 Palmerston 6

Lack of training caused the match at Williamstown to be a poor spectacle, but Blackrock deserved their victory over Palmerston by 2 penalty goals and 2 tries to 1 penalty goal and 1 try. Palmerston always have lively forwards, and had their backs handled with any certainty they would not have been six points in arrears at the interval. Blackrock commenced in promising style, but inside five minutes L. O'Brian scored a try, which Chamberlain did not goal. Shortly afterwards Keenan landed a splendid penalty from almost half-way. Early in the second period Keenan crossed for a try, and then came a rousing Palmerston rally. Merry scoring a try and Flynn a penalty goal. Just on time Russell kicked a penalty goal for Blackrock.

Cavan Rally to Draw

By PAT'O

CAVAN ..... 1-6 ROSCOMMON 1-6

When the whistle blew for full time at Croke Park yesterday, the spectators expected extra time to be played and the Central Council was anxious that it should be, but the teams refused, and the replay was fixed for October 10 at Croke Park, kick-off 3 o'clock.

The attendance yesterday was 68,023, and the gate receipts £5,314 14s. 5d.

It was a clean, close game, and after Roscommon had looked like winning when 25 minutes of the second half had gone, Cavan rallied wonderfully and balanced the score. I thought Roscommon unlucky for they lost many chances in the third quarter.

P. Smith kicked Cavan's first point within a minute and Stafford quickly doubled the lead. Then the three O'Reillys shared in a Cavan attack for Stafford to take a centre and crash to the net. Stafford was the perfect finishing medium when Cavan's clever forwards attacked, and his points set the score 1-4 to 0-3. Both sides sent wide before Phelim Murray narrowed the score for Roscommon. Half-time:—Cavan 1-4, Roscommon 0-3.

The wind, strengthened early in the second half, and Roscommon stormed Benson's goal. Dr. McDermott captured a pass of J. Murray's on the left and centred to his captain, who swerved his way and shot to the net. Donal Keenan's point set the teams on level terms at 1-4 each. Carlos and Kilmartin again sent Roscommon to attack, and J. Murray gave them the lead for the first time. Roscommon threw the match away by wild shooting in the next ten minutes, when the game was altogether in Cavan territory. Once more the O'Reillys pulled the game round, Maguire and Keenan exchanged points, and the hour was spent when J. J. O'Reilly kicked the balancing point from a free for Cavan.

Leinster Minor Football Final.—Louth 8-10, Kildare 0-6.

GOLF CLUB DINNERS

The Lord Mayor, Alderman M. O'Sullivan, T.D. was the principal guest at the dinner of the Building and Allied Trades' Golfing Society, at the Castle, on Saturday night, and, responding to "The Guests," alluded to the need for a municipal golf course for Dublin. The gist of his remarks was to the effect that when the war ends and conditions become normal, he hoped that the capital would have such a course. The President of the Society, Mr. J. McGowran, presided over 100 members and guests.

Mr. W. H. Fryer, captain, presided at the captain's dinner of the Killiney Club on Saturday night. Among the guests were Mr. E. A. Dwyer, captain of the Royal Dublin Club; and Mr. T. J. Morris, captain of Dun Laoghaire. The toast of the captain of the club was proposed by Mr. M. J. Bowers, and Mr. Dwyer and Mr. Morris replied for the guests. Referring to the destruction of the Royal Dublin clubhouse by the recent fire, Mr. Dwyer said that his club desired him to avail of that opportunity to thank the Golfing Union of Ireland, and virtually all the clubs of Ireland, for the sympathy and assistance that had been extended to them. Mr. Dwyer announced that the temporary clubhouse would be ready by the end of October.

Mr. P. O'Ryan, for thirteen years secretary of the Killiney Club, was the recipient of a cheque and wallet on behalf of the members in appreciation of his thirteen years' service to the club, prior to his appointment as secretary of the Elm Park Club.

At the Lucan Club dinner, Mr. G. Sheehan proposed the toast of the Golfing Union of Ireland, to which Mr. T. Ryan replied. The Captain (Mr. J. J. Browne) was proposed by Mr. D. Ahern. Among the guests were: Major-General Hugh McNeill, Dr. John Dunne, captain of Hermitage; and Mr. M. Keyes, T.D.

SIX TWO'S IN SUCCESSION.

Mr. Samuel H. McComas, past captain of the Dun Laoghaire Club, achieved a remarkable feat at Greenore last week. The 14th is a short hole (130-130 yards), with an uneven surface putting green On six successive rounds between Saturday and Tuesday he had two's at it.

DRUMCONDRA 2

By defeating St. James's Gate at Crumlin yesterday, Drumcondra drew level with the leaders, Cork United in the City Cup, and the issue now depends on the result of the match at Cork next Sunday between the Tolka Park team and the United. Mulville, Drumcondra's right half-back, is on the "injured list," and his place was taken by O'Rourke.

The visitors were not flattered by the 2-1 score; indeed, with any luck, Drumcondra might have crossed over several goals to the good instead of only one.

HOW THEY STAND

	P.	W.	D.	L.	F.	A.	Pts.
Cork	6	4	1	1	18	12	9
Drumcondra ...	6	4	1	1	17	11	9
Bohemians	6	3	1	2	13	10	7
Rovers	6	3	1	2	10	12	7
Dundalk	6	3	0	3	15	14	6

Shelbourne	6	1	1	4	8	10	3
Limerick	6	0	2	4	4	16	2

McNamara headed on to the crossbar and later missed a good chance from a pass by McGrane, while Ward also failed with a first-class opening. They also had a penalty kick from which O'Rourke sent wide, half topoing the ball.

Save for occasional periods in the second half, Drumcondra were far and away the cleverer team, their combination being much more effective. Their finish, however, was poor, and it was only rarely that Murtagh had a hard shot to cope with.

From a corner kick 35 minutes after the start Daly headed the opening score for Drumcondra; then O'Rourke missed the penalty From Daly's centre (30 minutes) McNamara cleverly headed the second The Gaile's score was from a high lob by Doran which deceived Flynn.

ANOTHER POINT FOR LIMERICK

LIMERICK ..... 1 ROVERS 1

Luck was somewhat against Shamrock Rovers who could only manage a draw at Limerick yesterday. The visitors, after a weak start, kept the home defence busy for the greater portion of the second half, but their forwards finished poorly.

In the first half the home side were able to take advantage of the wind, and they scored after ten minutes, when Cronin netted a clever shot. Shamrock Rovers, strongly aided by Coad, Eglinton and Delany, began to gain the upper hand in the second period, but it was not until a late stage that Delany equalised from a partial clearance by Tierney.

DUNDALK SUPERIOR IN SECOND HALF

DUNDALK..... 3 SHELBOURNE... 1

Dundalk's win at Oriel Park yesterday was due to a second half superiority. Shelbourne had been at least as good a side in the first half, but midway in the second half Dundalk took command, and the Shelbourne defence, which had been rock-like until then, showed cracks

The backs were unable to hold Donal Flanagan, and he made several good openings for his colleagues. Yet Shelbourne might have levelled the scoring but for the masterly saves by Matier from Cassidy and Walsh. Both sides played as selected.

After 35 minutes' play, Walsh scored for Shelbourne, and in 43 minutes McFarlane equalised. Both goalkeepers were severely tested in the second half, and it was not until 20 minutes of it had gone that Cullen put Dundalk in front. McCartney got Dundalk's third goal.

BRILLIANT FORM OF BOHEMIANS

Bohemians.....6	Cork.....2

By the time the interval arrived at Dalymount Park on Saturday, Cork United were a well-beaten team. They were then four goals in arrears, and there was no sign of a crack in the Bohemians' defence, while the forward line was showing a cleverness and sparkle that would have done credit to the best team that the club ever has produced.

Bohemians' display really was a remarkable one. It was not that Foley, Hayes, Duffy and R. Noonan had a "day off." The Cork defence, in point of fact, for the first ten minutes or so were fully keyed up, but after that, and up to half-time, they did not know where they were; and, substantial though Bohemians' interval lead was, it would have been greater but for a couple of fluky saves by Foley from Murphy and Kelly half-way through the first half.

For the first ten minutes of the second half the visitors played the real Cork game, but, even then they felt the full power and weight of the Bohemians' halves and backs. The United, in short, were outpaced, outplayed and outclassed right through the opening period, after which it was merely a matter of Bohemians holding on to their lead.

The Bohemian "star" was M. O'Flanagan. He rattled up three goals in the first half, in which Glennon scored a couple. McCarthy got Cork's goal in this half. Hayes, from a penalty kick, made it 5-2 a minute after the interval, and, from Kelly's effort, Morris flicked the ball over the line for Bohemians' sixth.

N.I. Gold Cup—Celtic 3, Linfield 1; Distillery 3, Glentoran 2; Derry City 5, Cliftonville 2.

O'Keeffe Benefit.—Cork Past Players 3, Cork United 0.

FINE CYCLING RECORD

By making fastest time in the 25 miles' time-trial of the Harp Club for the Palmer Cup yesterday on the Navan road, M. O. Kelly (Irish Road Club) secured the unique distinction of being fastest in every race on the course during the present season. He rode in three twenty-fives, five fifties, and two hundreds, being an absentee from but one of the races on the Navan road during the year. Yesterday he returned 53 mins. 24 secs. in not too good conditions, beating F. R. Baird (Harp) by 44 secs., with J. Mullen (Dundalk) 20 secs. behind the latter. The starters (43) were the biggest of the year, and they included many provincial riders, one of whom, S. O'Dea (Kilrush) won the handicap.

MOTOR CYCLING

Forty-five members of the Dublin L.S.F. motor-cycle group took part in a training trial in the Slade yesterday. An outstanding performance was that of J. Culliton in winning Class B and the handicap by a good margin. Actually, the instructors Section Leader E. P. Gill and Group Leader Archer made the best performances but were not competing. Result:—Instructors—Gill, 653; Archer, 628. Class A—Culliton, 467; J. Gibney and H. Beckett, 438. Class B—J. Culliton, 377; K. Murray, 325. Class C—R. Brennan, 177; D. O'Shaughnessy, 176. Handicap—Culliton, 76.4 p.c.; Brennan, 70.9p.c.; O'Shaughnessy 69.2 p.c.

Shares Bought on their Post-war Prospects

ALTHOUGH conditions on the past week were again favourable, interest to note. The demand for good-class Industrials goes on, and investors seem prepared to ignore the present low yields provided their choice holds good

This fact was strongly demonstrated by the further rise in Cement Ordinary shares, which at one time rose to 45/6. In view of the present dividend of 8 per cent. this price looks unusually high, but the outlook is decidedly good. This company can pay dividends up to 10 per cent. under the limitations of dividends.

There was quiet, but steady, buying of Salts (Ireland) issues, and the 5/- Ord. shares, which have never received a dividend, were standing around 6/-. Last year's report showed a sharp rise in profits, and the Pref. dividend arrears were paid off. Trading for the current year the units could hardly be bought at in many quarters hopes of an Ord. dividend are entertained. The 5 p.c. Pref., which can participate in profits up to 7½ p.c., would appear the better purchase if they could be picked up at around 20/-.

In the same class Irish Worsted Mills issues are claiming attention. The "A" Ord., which have received a dividend of 5 p.c. for the past two years, are now around 6/-. This company has also done well since the outbreak of war. The Pref. shares, which have regularly received their dividend, are standing around 20/-. Although both these two companies are doing well at present, it is difficult to say what the post-war prospects are likely to be when world conditions return to normal and bring with it intensified competition again.

PIM'S OUTLOOK

There was rather good speculative buying of Pim Bros. Pref. shares up to 38/-. This company, like all other drapery concerns, has done well since the outbreak of war, and some people are expecting par, of the arrears of dividends on these shares will be paid this time. The dividend is in arrears since July, 1931. The chief difficulty confronting all drapery concerns is the replenishing of stocks. The post-war prospects, too, are uncertain, as the return of normal trading conditions must bring a revival of intense competition.

The recent rise in Irish Cinema issues brought in profit-taking, and prices came back rather quickly. The Pref. were available on Friday last at 19/6, at which level they look attractive when compared with other Irish Industrial issues. The dividend on them has always been paid, and the current year's trading should be good. In some quarters an Ord. dividend payment is expected in respect of the current year.

G.S.R. FEATURE

Movements in Home Rails were erratic, and the trend changes daily. This is particularly noticeable in the case of Great Southern issues. The outstanding feature was the strength of the Deb. stock, which advanced sharply to 67½. As we pointed out repeatedly in recent months, this stock was standing at a level out of all proportion to the junior issues. As a matter of fact, it looked and still looks the better purchase for, in the event of any capital reorganisation scheme, it must receive the most favourable treatment.

There was more interest taken in Prs (Ireland) Ord. shares, and they moved up to 7/3. This concern has a sound financial record, and has weathered the war years very successfully. It is underst

IMPRESSIONS OF A VISITOR TO DUBLIN

The variety of the food in Dublin, the thrilling All Ireland football final at Croke Park, the efficiency of the Dublin Fire Brigade, Dublin's fine housing schemes, the vitality of the Dublin theatre, and Dublin's charming Mansion House—

These are some of the clear-cut impressions that I will take back to London with me, Mr. J. Horner, General Secretary of the Fire Brigade Union of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, told a reporter last night. Mr. Horner was for many years a member of the London Fire Brigade, and this was his first visit to Dublin.

He was entertained last night in the Thomas Ashe Hall, College street, by the Irish Municipal Employees' Trade Union, and he leaves for London this morning.

Mr. Horner, who is a devotee of Association football, told a reporter that he enjoyed greatly the thrills at the All Ireland final. "I am sure," he said, "that such a game as I saw at Croke Park would draw vast crowds in London."

CIVIL DEFENCE PARADE

There was a very representative attendance from all units of the Civil Defence Forces of E. District at a Church parade in the Ringsend-Sandymount area yesterday. In Star of the Sea Church, Mass was said by the Rev. Dominick Ryan, C.C., and the Royal Salute was sounded by buglers and the Red Cross Colours dipped at the Elevation.

In St. Matthew's Church, Ringsend, there was a special Service, conducted by the Rev. R. E. Weir, M.A.

The units then paraded and were inspected by Commandant M. McCarthy, O/C A.A. Company, L.D.F., who was accompanied by Commandant F. Magee, Executive, South Dublin Area, L.D.F., and Lieutenant G. H. Ivimey.

Proceeding to the Strand road the parade was drawn up, and a pennant was blessed by the Rev. T. F. Ryan, P.P., and presented to the L.D.F. by Mrs. M. McGowan on behalf of the Ladies' Committee.

The units then marched to Beggars Bush Barracks, where they were dismissed. The band of the I.T. and G.W.U. was also present.

GIRL WIVES IN IRELAND

While there was no official record of a girl of twelve years of age marrying in Dublin, there were cases of girls of thirteen, fourteen and fifteen years of age. These facts were gleaned by a reporter in the course of inquiries made in different quarters.

The Guardianship of Infants Act, 1886, fixed the legal age for marriage in Ireland and Great Britain at twelve. Since then it has been raised to sixteen in England. Speaking at the Clogher Diocesan Synod at Clones on Friday last, the Rev. E. L. Canon Keane said that this was a crying shame. They were trying to have the age raised to sixteen in Ireland.

Marriages of girls of sixteen were common, it was stated.

A well-known gynæcologist stated that the best time for girls to marry was between the ages of seventeen and eighteen.

Autumn in Russia

The westward advance of the Russian armies continues without abatement. During the week-end the list of cities recaptured from the Germans has been increased by one of the most important of all—Smolensk, Herr Hitler's quarters during the autumn of 1941. All along the huge line of the Dnieper, from Smolensk in the north almost to the sea, the Red armies refuse to halt, or to allow their enemies an opportunity for rest. They are fighting, according to the latest reports, in the streets of Kiev, the capital of the Ukraine, and the news either of its capture or of its evacuation appears certain within the next twenty-four hours. Kremenchug, on the river's right bank, faces an almost equally imminent threat, and powerful Russian forces are directed against the important industrial centres of Dnepropetrovsk and Zaporozhe. The river itself, though far better suited for defence from the west than from the east—its western bank is, for the most part, precipitous—is not proving itself so formidable an obstacle as was expected; for the Russians have succeeded already in crossing it at several points to the south of Smolensk. Few features of the present war have been so striking as the protraction of the Russians' winter counter-offensive into a summer offensive, and the speed of their progress. It is not easy for the people of this small island to form any clear impression of Eastern European distances; but some notion of the scale of the Russian advance may be formed from the statement by Moscow Radio that the Germans now have lost considerably more territory in Russia than all the territory that they have occupied in Western Europe. In other words, the Red Army has regained an area greater than of France, Denmark and Norway. Nearly half of the great and fertile lands of the Ukraine—the so-called granary of Russia—has returned into their hands, and, even if they cannot expect to make much use of it for some time, at all events, the usufruct of its crops, from which the Germans anticipated so much a couple of years ago, has been denied them.

Cautious strategy would seem to suggest that the Russians should halt on the banks of the Dnieper, rather than drive against the next German line of defence. Cautious strategy, however, has been at no time a feature of either belligerent's operations on the eastern front. When the Germans struck at the Soviet Union, they struck with all their might, showing no sign of a halt until the rigours of the first Russian winter, reinforcing the determination of the Russian defenders, compelled them to stop. The Red Army has followed the same policy. On every occasion its counter-offensives have been carried through to the limit, and it is more than possible that it will repeat the policy which has served it so well during the last year or so. We must remember, too, that the winter is the traditional campaigning season of the Russians. Retirement into winter-quarters—"digging-in" for the winter—has been the standard practice of Western soldiers for hundreds of years: the average German, British, French general hates the thought of active campaigning in the rain, mud and snow; his plans are apt to take the form of intensive fighting in the summer months, followed by a lull until the next summer permits a renewal of operations. The Russians think differently. Winter has no terrors for them—far fewer, at all events, than it has for the soldiers of other nations. They are equipped for winter fighting, and winter conditions form the basis of their training. In these circumstances, they would be illogical if they should fail to seize the advantage of the coming months. The Russians are a shrewd people. They must have been excited by Mr. Churchill's recent hint that he regards the attack upon Italy as merely a pendant and preliminary to a major invasion of France or the Low Countries. All these considerations must be urging the Red generals to carry on so long as the momentum of their tremendous thrust lasts.

On with the Dance

Humanity on the Bench always deserves a welcome. It made a pleasing appearance in Dublin lately, when District Justice Reddin recommended a depressed defendant to "get himself a couple of pints and go home." In Waterford, District Justice MacCabe has applied the same liberal spirit to the consideration of the dance-hall question. His statement is worth quoting as a monument of common-sense: "I am rather inclined to let people dance, so to speak. There is a lot of talk about trying to stop people running into the city from the country, but when these people want a dance or a hop, every kind of authority, including Church, State, and county councils, put the whole thing under a magnifying glass, and want to know how many square feet there are and all the rest of it." It is understood that this is no reflection on those authorities whose care is simply to prevent accidents by ensuring that licences are not granted for dance-halls with, for instance, unsatisfactory exits. Rigid enforcement of by-laws for safety is most necessary. In a majority of cases, however, the objections to the granting of dance-hall licences appear to be based on the theory that dancing is essentially evil. The justice who grants a licence does it with the resigned air of one who recognises that he is making a concession to the frailty of mortal nature; the justice who refuses one does so with the conscious virtue of an incorruptible guardian of public morals. One must realise, of course, that the stigma is attached only to ball-room dancing—jigs and reels are as pure as they are energetic. Yet where is the harm in ballroom dancing? At least, the youth or girl who goes to a dance-hall is a great deal less likely to fall into error than the one who is forced to spend the evenings on the street-corners. Dance-halls have become a butt for the parlour moralists—as bicycling was, with as much justification, fifty years ago. There is a grave danger that we are degenerating into a nation of spoil-sports. Mr. MacCabe will have done a great service if he helps to show our old women—of both sexes—that to enjoy oneself is not necessarily irreligious, immoral, or prejudicial to the good name of the community. Boys and girls come out to play—and play they will. If they cannot have freedom to live full and enjoyable lives in the country, they will go to the city, or leave the State altogether. The bitterly censorious attitude of some of our citizens cramps not only a few artists, or a few merry-makers, but the whole vitality of the nation's life. If we want to keep the young people here, we will have to let them dance.

RADIO MUSIC FOR ALL

Captain Bowles, Director of Music, Radio Eireann, wants messenger boys to whistle a Grieg sonata when they are at work. He said so when he was the guest of honour at a reception held by the Waterford Musical Club. Captain Bowles said that it was not the people who knew music that Radio Eireann wanted to contact, but the man in the street, who was not at the moment interested, and who thought that if an instrumental broadcast lasted for three minutes it was highbrow.

CRUISKEEN LAWN

By Myles na gCopaleen

I AM sure you will think me incredibly affected, but hanging on the wall in my study you will see (of all things (most superer ogatory)) a pair of waders. And I am no fisherman, mind. If I belonged to the swinish school of writing I would say that I wasn't "a disciple of Isaac Walton" and leave it at that, whatever the pronouns "it" and "that" stand for. The idea of the waders was put into my head one day on meeting Mr. Sean O Faoláin. "My God, man," I said, "what's happened your trousers?" They were plastered with a queer reddish slime up as far as the knees. "I have been wading through an incredibly tedious novel," he riposted.

Der Wortklauber

In my enthusiasm for the slick jests of our own (inimitable) leg. sick O'Graffer (Dinneen) I hope I have not appeared to slight the word-hoarders of other not-distant lands. Fowler J. is not without his quota of Homeric laughter. (Homeric 1., loud and general such as Homer attributes to spectators of ludicrous incidents. OE hleahtor cf. G. gelachter (lachen LAUGH).

For instance, you'll often have wondered what your English friends were talking about when you heard them discuss vril. Well, it's quite simple, vril is "a natural wonder-working force assumed in Lytton's THE COMING AGE to have been discovered." Hence (or cogn.), I should imagine, Bovril. And then what has he to say of that mysterious (but of course civilised) man of the ancient north, the celt? Simply this: "Bronze or stone (or iron) chisel-edged prehistoric instrument." He adds, puckishly enough: "Wd. founded on perh. false reading in Vulgate of Job xix 24—stylo ferreo. et plumbi lamina, vel celte (v.l. certe) sculpantur; cf. FYLFOT." Fair enough, except that I refuse to see Fylfot—I knew the grandfather well, J. Fylfot Curran, better Irishman never wore rahat (that terribly Cork dainty—Curran used to plaster the beard with it in hopes of curing the asthma Lord save us all this night your father will tell you the same).

Then again under that magic word whisky, the old bird-butcher has another snigger for us, mar atá: whisky—kind of light gig or chaise. (f.—WHISK w ref. to lightness of motion). Ho ho if that's the case, many's the time my lordship was in the same gigs.

Then take flocci-nauci-nihili-pilification, a word against which one is continually knocking up. It means—"Estimating as worthless" and there's a lot of it goes on as between loyal and indefeasible Irishmen.

However, and speaking as an old employee of Paramount as far back as the days of the famous Players, it amuses me to see this definition of Wardour-street—"London street noted for antique furniture, &c. (W.-st. English, affectedly archaic)." 'Antique furniture' is good all the same if it is intended as a crack at our re-issues. Allophylian is another word with a pleasant kick in it—it describes in a nice way a rather deplorable 3rd XI. type, namely "(one whose native language is) neither Aryan nor Semitic". Black show.

Old Complaints

Every time I see the "Irish" for the Red Cross Society—Cumann Croise Deirge na hÉireann,' I shudder. If these people do not know Irish, why cannot they consult myself or some educated person? The correct Irish version, of course, is An Cumann Cros Dhearg. The present atrocity is of the same order of erudition as Srád Ui Chonaill, which means O'Connell's Street. (And don't we all know that the place is owned be non-nationals?)

Meantime the Dublin Transport Company, ignoring the provision in the Road Traffic Act which compels them to use Irish as much as possible on their tickets, continue to print thereon the mysterious motto Táisc do thicéad go scailfaidhe. It looks all right, of course, but it has absolutely no meaning.

I do find life rather unpleasant.

ST. MATTHEW'S CHURCH

The Harvest Thanksgiving Services were held in St. Matthew's Parish Church on Sunday, September 19th. They were conducted by the Rector, Rev. R. E. Weir, assisted by Rev. V. J. Walker. The special preacher at Morning Prayer was the Archbishop of Dublin, Most Rev. Dr. A. W. Barton, and at Evening Prayer the address was delivered by Rev. Canon Nesbitt Harvey.

During the Morning Service the Churchwardens, Messrs. M. Wingard and R. E. Roberts, on behalf of the clergy and parishioners, presented to His Grace for dedication a memorial in the form of a handsome oak panelling in the Chancel, that had been erected in fulfillment of a bequest of the late Mrs. Mary Sophia Williamson, in memory of her daughter Olive.

The Harvest Musical arrangements were in the hands of Mr. F. Ruddle, and the choir gave a rendering of "The Heavens are telling," by Haydn.

T.C.D. NOTES

By Our Correspondent.

FRIDAY next is zero hour for most of the Moderatorship candidates. On that day the honour students in Classics, Modern Literature, History, Experimental and Natural Science will begin their final examinations. Moderatorship is the most important examination for the average honour student; it is the culmination of his academic career. If any college examination is likely to have any effect on his later life, it is Moderatorship, as it determines whether he will leave college with a first, second, third-class or an allowed degree.

As is usual at this time of the year, the Reading Room is crowded with more or less haggard and weary-looking Moderatorship candidates who are adding the final touches to the work of the past year. But not they alone will experience their fatal moment on Friday morning at half-past nine when the last strokes of the Campanile bell have sounded, for the Junior Sophister Term examination will also take place, and many other students are starting their term honors.

Not only the members of the Arts School, however, are being subjected to the tortures of examinations; the other schools will have theirs during this week, too. The Supplementary examinations in Science, Commerce and Engineering are commencing to-day, as well as the Pre-registration, the First and Second Medical, the First and Second Dental examination, and the examination for the Diploma in Gynæcology and Obstetrics. On September 30th the Junior Freshman Midsummer re-examination and the examination in Mechanics for medical students will take place.

Annual Elections

The results of the annual elections in Dublin University Biological Associations have now been announced. The President for the session 1943-44 will be Professor T. D. O'Donel Browne, M.B., F.R.C.P.I., F.R.C.O.G., the holder of the Chair of Midwifery in this University. Mr. R. D. Levis, B.A., last year's Treasurer, is the new Record Secretary. Mr. Levis has not only gained distinctions in the School of Physic, but is also known on the athletic side of College as a former Junior Secretary of the Rugby Club. The office of Correspondence Secretary will be held by Mr. J. D. Llewellyn-Jones, who brings to it the necessary literary qualifications as an ex-editor of T.C.D., the College miscellany, and as editor of the very successful "Trinity Parade" of 1942. Mr. Jones has been a prominent member of the D.U. Players, whose Treasurer he is. He was also a member of the General Committee of the College Historical Society, and is at present Acting Secretary of the Irish Student Association. Mr. J. W. Jackson, who has been elected to the office of Treasurer, brings to it the experience of a year of Assistant Treasurership of the "Bi."

FILM NOTES

By Our Cinema Correspondent.

IT seems that we are to have no respite from the all-star film. Twentieth Century Fox led the way with their dramatic Tales of Manhattan, and Paramount followed close on their heels with the musical, "Star Spangled Rhythm." Now, Sir Cedric Hardwicke has assembled all the available stars that R.K.O. Radio could provide, borrowed a great number more from other studios, and mixed them up in a rather unbalanced cavalcade of English history described as Forever and a Day (Savoy). The story follows the fortunes of the Trimble family from the day when Eustace Trimble (C. Aubrey Smith) built himself a house on the Downs to defend himself against any possible invasion from the Continent in the year 1803. The last we see of the Trimble homestead is its utter destruction in the early years of the present war. This rather disjointed saga is acted by a large and brilliant cast, and is directed by six of Hollywood's leading directors. Unfortunately, none of the characters appears for long enough to allow you to work up much interest in him or her ultimate destiny, but Gladys Cooper deserves especial mention for a beautifully emotional ten minutes, and Charles Laughton gives a joyous little cameo of a none-too-temperate family butler. An interesting film that at least deserves a visit.

Silver Skates (Metropole): Here we go again on ice, this time with Kenny Baker (pleasant tenor, indifferent actor), and Belita (brilliant
